SELECTMEN STUDYING PROJECT

Mattapoisett Selectmen were presented with a complete report on a sewage works for the town of Mattapoisett on Tuesday, October 28th. Fay, Spofford & Thorndike compiled the report based on their study of the town which included test drilling in various sections. Mr. William G. Dyer, associate of the company, presented the plan.

It calls for payment over the 30-year life of the bond issue and for a 3-phase construction. Domestic wastes alone will be taken care of. Storm and surface water will have to be disposed of by a separate method. The proposed plant is projected to care for the needs of the town over 30 years. It is forecasted that the population will be 21,200 people by the year 2000. The engineers have found no suitable site for a treatment plant in town where sewage effluent can be disposed of into the ground. In Mattapoisett, a treatment plant would require an outfall sewer from plant to tide-water. There are three possibilities suggested: 1. Sewage Treatment Plant at Brandt Island, estimated total cost of complete system, $12,208,000.00. 2. Sewage treatment Plant at Point Connell, estimated total cost of complete system, $14,073,000.00.

3. Treatment at Fairhaven Plant which is now under construction, $12,888,000.00.

The tie-in with the Fairhaven system for treatment is recommended as most desirable by the report, both from the standpoint of lower cost and because State and Federal agencies are in favor of regional systems.

The initial stage of the system is designed to serve 55% of the town's residents with 15 miles of gravity sewer plus 2 miles of force main sewer. The complete system would contain 44 miles of gravity sewer, 11 pumping stations, 1 sewer ejection station and 6 miles of force main sewer.

Estimated cost of the 3 stages:

	Est. Total Cost	Est. Net Cost after State & Federal grants
1.	$5,058,000	$2,613,000
2.	5,087,000	3,221,000

(C) that the town submit to the Massachusetts Department of Public Works a detailed plan of the sewer crossing Interstate 195 so that construction of the sewer crossing can be included in the highway contract. (D) make application for Federal and State grants under Public Law 660 and the Massachusetts Clean Waters Act and, upon commitment of grant funds, proceed with final planning of Initial Sewage Works utilizing advance of State Grant funds.

The financing, if recommendations of the report would be followed, would raise 35% of the funds through the Betterment Assessments - 17 1/2% based on frontage and 17 1/2 % based on area. The remainder of 65% would be raised through general taxation. (The Betterment Assessment can't be levied on property until it has actually been bettered by the sewer being built and put into service on the street where the property stands.)

The Beat of a Drum

- Editorial

It was a night full of spooks and goblins. They came by the hundreds and filled the street with fantasy on a Halloween dedicated to fun and treats. They paraded in their finery to the beat of a band and most thought it had always been this way.

The parade started from the barber shop on Church Street as it always has. In the beginning, a barber known affectionately as "Skid" had the idea. He dressed in costume, complete with a high hat, and beat a drum outside his shop. The kids came running, dressed in their finery, and this spontaneous parade toured the town to the beat of the drum. Each year more children joined. Their leader, like the Pied Piper, always remained the same. He has been gone a number of years. The children who march today are sons and daughters of the crew who followed "Skid". His little treat has grown to tremendous size. The whole police force now organizes the parade, the gifts and gives out prizes.

Yet, each Halloween, when the spooks pour into the village from all over this town and neighboring towns, they gather on the same spot. Some of us still hear the beat of the big drum in our mind's eye. This little germ of an idea by a man who loved children has flourished. No one would be more pleased than Abraham Skidmore.

Hallowe'en

The Halloween parade in Mattapoisett was bigger than ever with a great variety of imaginative costumes. The marchers paraded their finery through the town and ended at the Center School where the costumes were judged by the town Selectmen, David Haley, Donald Linhares and John Field. Volunteers helped to pass out assorted goodies to the children as they passed through the cafeteria of the Center School. Winners of the costume judging were Caren Dunn as a fairy princess and William Kelley as a bunch of grapes. They were awarded tricycles in the kindergarten and under class. First grade to third grade winners were Valerie Fountain as a peace marcher and Kenneth Martin as a hippie. Robin Priest as Ned's Point Lighthouse and Brian Klinka as Houdini were the winners in the fourth to sixth grade group. Seventh grade and up winners were Mark Kelley as the

WHAT IS THE FORD HALL FORUM?

This Forum is a voluntary assembly of the earnest and thoughtful people of our community without regard to economic, religious or political differences for the purpose of discussing all matters of public interest under the inspiration of acknowledged leaders in the interest of truth, fair play and mutual enlightenment with full opportunity for participation by the audience.

The Forum avoids partisanship, eliminates sectarianism and disowns class distinction. It promotes good will, encourages tolerance and cultivates genuine Americansim.

The Forum is not a deliberative assembly. It is not a debate, nor a concert, nor an entertainment, though it has in turn all the allurement, intensity, contention, delight and excitement that characterize these widely varied occasions.

The Forum bids men seek the truth reverently, and speak it bravely. It believes that men can frankly discuss different viewpoints in the spirit of unlesioned good will and fraternalism.

Such discussion is the safety-valve of democracy. It leads to human fellowship and abolishes distrust and hatred and inevitably works toward an understanding that makes social progress possible.

Veterans' Day

Editorial

Those who were disappointed that the town officials did not officially dignify "Moratorium Day" will welcome the coming opportunity to honor the sacrifice of our fighting men on Veterans' Day. This day is set aside for that purpose and has no political axes to grind.

All Americans may well pause on Veterans' Day to reflect that our men in service are deserving of far more support than they have been receiving. They fight in a war where victory is denied them. Their cause is clouded. Yet, they put their lives on the line to do their duty as other generations of Americans have done before them. We don't forget that the original purpose of the day was in honor of a peace that had to be defended again and again by each generation. We hope that our men can return soon in peace. But, while they fight, may they never be betrayed.

Veterans' Day is a day for all Americans to demonstrate and never has the cause been more deserving.

"At last count," the Congressman said, "we've received over 5000 responses -- all in the last five days." He has borrowed automatic envelope-opening machines to aid in processing the huge volume of mail.

To count and tabulate the returns, the Congressman plans to ask for volunteers in the District to help out.

In the early returns of the questionnaires, a substantial majority feel that President Nixon is doing a "good job". "Final results won't be known for a couple of weeks -- until the volume of mail slows down and we get a chance to tally the answers," Keith said.

On the question of priorities -- "Please number the following in the order you think they deserve attention" -- preliminary sampling indicated defense, inflation, and poverty as the three most important areas to 12th District voters. Housing was a prime second choice, while space trailed far behind the other options in the voters' lists of priorities.

FIRST REGIONAL SYMPHONIC CONCERT

The first concert of the Regional Symphonic Band's 1969-1970 Series was enjoyed Sunday by a large and enthusiastic audience. The encore was a special tribute to the 115th Anniversary of John Philips Souza, one of but three Americans to be named to the Music Hall of Fame.

As in the case of past years, John Pandolfi and the members of the band gave us all a thrilling treat.

■ Ever watch
a large building in the process of construction?

A lot of work goes into the foundation,
testing the land -- sinking piles for strength,
all of it before any work is done on the building.
That's because a building is only as sound as its foundation.

EVER THOUGHT ABOUT THIS IN TERMS OF YOUR OWN LIFE?
You can find constructive ideas for building a life foundation in a talk by Neil H. Bowles, Monday evening, November 10, in the auditorium of First Church of Christ, Scientist.
